

by the jam from taking their seats were justly indignant, of course they had a right of way, but when Mapleson was called for and requested to clear the aisles he protested that he could do nothing and proceeded to tell little anecdotes of greater crowds that he had seen. His pain at the information of the sale of sham tickets he said was intense, but there was a very strong feeling that the vast money profit from all this swindling, or at least a fat percentage of it, was wandering in a golden stream into Colonel Mapleson's pocket, a conviction that tended to cast a doubt upon the genuineness of the regret he expressed over the nefarious practices going on around. After the house was so filled that the cubic air ordinance might have been enforced, tickets were sold at high prices in the lobbies, and again Mapleson's attention was attracted in vain. This, when there were men who had purchased seats early in the action and were unable to reach them through the crush, was exasperating, and a few enterprising people with spirit determined to at least inconvenience the smooth Colonel, if not punish him, in return for his bad faith with the public. Foremost among these fighters in the cause against the oppression of a swindler, was E. C. Macfarlane of the Wasp whose creole indifference of manner covers a good deal of determination when he is roused, and the systematic gouging to which Mapleson has subjected the San Franciscans has roused most people to a white heat, but they have been content to unpack their hearts in curses and go right up and be fleeced next time and curse again. The chief of police had found the Opera House dangerously crowded on Thursday—Patti—night, and Mr. Macfarlane took that as his hold, and by his insistence instigated the movement for the arrest of Mapleson for violating the fire ordinance, which declares that it is unlawful to obstruct the aisles of a theatre during the performance. The two lawyers who went bail for the slippery impressario must have very trusting natures. It is really to be feared that there will be a genuine riot before this exciting season is over. There was just as great a swindle over the sale of seats for the second Patti night as at the first, though Mapleson had sworn it should be more carefully supervised, all the seats were declared sold, when the box office finally opened to the line that had been standing for hours before it. The crowd dilapidated the vestibule and departed furiously. Yet the madness to hear Patti does not diminish in the least. She is a wonderful little creature, and her prestige reaches to the stars. With her beauty of person, wonderfully rich dress and phenomenal singing, she is, on the whole, worth all the struggle that is being made over her. The low rates that have been developed in her voice of late years, have a richness surprising in a soprano. In the highest notes there are signs of wear. Such women should be immortal. It is because they are not that makes them precious, that legitimizes the madness of the scenes the city is going through now. There is a powerful Gerster party in town. Where there are two such pre-eminent prima donnas in the same troupe, of course sides will be taken and comparisons made, and Gerster has an enthusiastic and discriminating following. There are people whose independence of mind is so great that they rather resent falling down with the whole world before the world's idol, and others still who can see only the spots on the sun itself, others in whom a kind of generosity or magnanimity inclines their judgment toward the weaker, toward the second of any two competing powers, and there are just a few whose standard is so high, so ideal, that it craves something outside of what humanity can do even at its best, and so their disappointment in Patti is genuine, and in the rebound they turn to Gerster, whose personality is simply adorable. The season is in full blast, and no one knows definitely when the end will be.

The large party of San Franciscans that returned from the Islands at the same time with Mr. Macfarlane are ecstatic over their trip, and the beauty and novelty of all they saw and enjoyed. Friends of the treaty are much encouraged and delighted over the passage of the Mexican Reciprocity treaty in Congress.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The appeal of the Chinaman whose Mexican dollars were seized and confiscated on board the S. S. Alameda last month, was heard yesterday before Mr. Justice Austin. The Attorney-General appeared for the Crown, and Mr. J. M. Davidson for the appellant. The latter made a strong appeal for what he considered the rights of his client, and expressed his surprise in vehement terms at the action of the Government. Judgment was reserved.

The band will give a concert this Saturday afternoon at 4:30. The following is the programme:

Overture—"Italian in Algier," Rossini.
Galop—"Street Cars," Arndt.
Ballad—"Mornings," Beethoven.
Selection—"Nabucco," Verdi.
Waltz—"Flower Show," Coote.
March—"Fearless and True," Unrath.
There will also be an extra concert on Monday evening next at Emma Square.

The O. P. M. B. is determined to hold its own, notwithstanding the surrounding competition. Its dressy windows are the main attraction on Fort street, and cause so many persons to stop and admire, that the sidewalk is often blocked. The only alternative then is to walk inside and invest in some of the new goods just imported per S. S. Alameda.

According to the Oceania, a newspaper published in Manila, vaccination has been much neglected in Manila and small-pox was, in February, very prevalent. Measures are being taken by the authorities to prevent the spread of the epidemic, and vaccine lymph has been telegraphed for to Hongkong and Singapore.

There was an unusually large gathering at the Hotel Thursday evening, and the music was of the usual high order discoursed by the Hawaiian Band. An excellent programme was presented, in which was introduced Beyer's celebrated medley entitled "War Recollections." This piece was loudly applauded and an encore demanded to which Prof. Berger kindly responded.

Noon to-day is the hour named up to which tenders will be received at the office of the Minister of the Interior for the erection of a building for a Police Court and Station House on Merchant street. It is anticipated that there will be numerous competitors in the field for the contract of this large building.

The Lenten season does not seem to deter people in San Francisco from going crazy over Patti tickets. This being the dull season in the Eastern States, it is said that that is Mapleson's reason for coming westward.

The S. S. Waimanalo left for Waimanalo yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. She had on board fourteen of the excursionists, who will be guests of the Hon. J. A. Cummins.

At the Police Station on Thursday a nolle prosequi was entered in the case of Kahaano charged with vagrancy, and also in the case of Hook Chong charged with opium in possession.

The Spring vacation of all Government schools will commence on Friday the 11th proximo and extend to Monday the 28th proximo.

Messrs. Geo. W. Macfarlane & Co. have been appointed sole agents for the well known Japanese firm, Ichi Ban, and have now on view a large and varied assortment of Japanese goods.

The April number of the Hawaiian Monthly reached us yesterday. We reserve our review of this valuable magazine.

The case against the District Justice of Waima was heard again yesterday, and was continued until Thursday next.

A matinee at the circus this afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock, and the grand final performance in the evening. On this occasion Mr. Sherman promises the best bill of the season, and consequently a grand entertainment may be looked for.

To-day Mr. E. P. Adams holds his regular cash sale. In addition to the usual line of dry goods and groceries, will be offered for sale a large lot of splendid Chinese matting.

The Hon. F. Balkeley Johnson, H. H. M's Consul-General at Hongkong, will shortly proceed to England for the purpose of recruiting his health. In referring to his departure the Hongkong Daily Press says: "Mr. Johnson has rendered eminent services to the Colony of Hongkong freely and ungrudgingly, in spite of the great claims made upon his time by the colossal mercantile business of which for some time he has been the guiding spirit and controlling head; in spite, too, of the unflagging zeal with which he has discharged his duties as a member of the Legislative Council, and in other public capacities. Lately, moreover, Mr. Johnson's health has been far from satisfactory, and it is probable that his prodigal expenditure of mental energy has contributed to exhaust him. Few public men in the Colony have, in so short a period, rendered such important services to the community; none have displayed more ability or dauntless energy." It is gratifying to know that the Hawaiian Government has such an able person to look after its interests in that part of the world from which all the Chinese emigrate to this country.

A court of enquiry was held at Mahukona on the 18th instant by G. P. Kamaooha, coroner, and six jurymen for the purpose of ascertaining how John Stole met his death. After a patient and thorough investigation, the jury returned the following VERDICT.

"An inquest taken at Mahukona, Island of Hawaii, on the 18th day of March, 1884, before G. P. Kamaooha, one of the coroners of said island, upon the body of John Stole of Mahukona, there lying dead; by the oaths of the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, who being sworn to enquire when, how, and by what means the said John Stole came to his death: Upon their oaths do say, by accidentally falling from a train of cars on the H.R.R., while in motion, and they do also exonerate employers from any responsibility in the matter, and also that the Hawaiian Railroad Company is not responsible whatever.

The San Francisco Musical Drama says that Daniel E. Bandmann, the great German "Narcisse" is in New York making an effort to organize a company for a western tour extending to California, but is having a hard time of it, as the profession has a thorough knowledge of the contemptible manner in which he treated his company during his recent tour of India and China. On the other hand John C. Freund says in the weekly criticism of the Drama:—"Bandmann is not only a great actor, a fine tragedian, a good comedian, excellent in melodrama, but he is a scholar and a refined gentleman as well. To describe him in brief, I should say that he was the most versatile, the most forceful and the most generally experienced, educated and accomplished gentleman in his profession to-day.

The Oceanic Steamship Company are to be congratulated on having secured the services of Mr. Geo. Robinson to fulfil the stewardship rendered vacant by the retirement of Mr. Dexter. Mr. Robinson established his reputation in the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, on whose vessels he served several years. His connection with the S. S. City of New York will no doubt bring him more prominently to the recollection of the residents of the Islands who have had the good fortune to travel in that vessel.

The Board of Trustees of the Queen's Hospital held a special meeting Thursday, at 11 A.M., at which Dr. Henri J. McGrew was elected assistant physician. They also decided to make a reduction in the daily rates of charges for medical treatment and maintenance at the Hospital. The following is the scale adopted: Self-supporting patients, $1 per day; Subjects of Benevolent Societies, 50 cents per day. Chinese, Japanese and others subsisting on similar fare, 40 cents cents. These rates of course will not include extras.

The fourteen days' clearance sale at the Great I. N. L. store, corner of Nuuanu and Queen streets is attracting large numbers of purchasers. The inducement offered by the enterprising proprietor, Mr. A. Gartenberg, of presenting a handsome nickel silver watch and gilt chain to all purchasers of goods to the amount of $20, has proved a great attraction. The goods are all of first-class quality and the prices are extremely moderate.

The boots and shoes recently unpacked by Mr. Frank Gertz are superior to anything of the kind in this town. A specialty with Mr. Gertz is his low prices, for which reason he is always liberally patronized.

Mr. G. R. Wood, the Honolulu agent of the Singer Sewing Machine, has opened his agency at the Great Ten Cent Store, where numbers of these valuable machines can be had for cash or on time payments.

The circus re-opened on Monday night to a crowded house. The programme was particularly pleasing and was received with repeated rounds of applause. The entertainment opened with the grand "star and waltz entree" led by W. Morosco and Miss St. Claire. The double trapeze act by Scott and La Mondue and the Indian hurdle act by Alejo Hudson were the gems of the evening. The difficult feats performed by the Morosco brothers are truly wonderful and they have fully established their reputation as first-class acrobats. There will be a matinee this afternoon for the children, and the regular performance in the evening.

On Thursday evening there was a grand concert at the Hawaiian Hotel. It is stated that the concert was given in honor of the excursionists from the Eastern States. The new proprietors are to be complimented on having secured the services of the band on that occasion, and it is hoped that through their continued liberality the public will have the pleasure of hearing the band play in the Hotel grounds at least once a week for the future. Under the previous management these arrangements could not be made satisfactory to all concerned.

Mr. C. P. Chater, the gentleman who entertained His Majesty King Kalakaua in Hongkong on his tour round the world, has been credited with sixteen wins and one dead heat out of 26 events at the annual race meeting held in Hongkong last month. In 1881 Mr. Chater's lunch table was profusely decorated with numerous race trophies, but now he is able to show about five times as many.

That desirable residence on the Valley road at present occupied by Mr. B. F. Bolles, and known as Kapena Place, is now in the market for sale. On account of ill-health Mr. Bolles also purposes disposing of the entire stock and trade of Bolles & Co. This old established house ought to prove a good investment for men of capital.

We are authorized to say that nothing was known at the Foreign Office of the circulars addressed to the Hawaiian Consular officials a copy of which appears in the Gazette of yesterday, until the receipt of a reference to it in a letter from London which came to hand on Saturday last.

A Frenchman is about to be beheaded under the guillotine. A priest approaches him and says: "My friend, have you any last wish to make; the wish of a dying man is sacred."
